

These give a permanent visual security marking system that can be used with total confidence on a wide range of material using a code of your own choice, unique to your company or department.

Simple and effective.

ID Marks are a dot matrix system that comes complete with marking compound and which enables you to permanently mark most items.

They are applied using precision cut stencils which are produced on sophisticated multi-perforation machines. This ensures highest quality and volume orders are produced with ease.

Research shows that office equipment which has been marked in this manner is of little interest to thieves. Professional thieves will avoid stealing marked property in the knowledge that it will prove difficult to dispose of.

Even if they attempted to remove the marking by chiseling or grinding them away, it will be clearly visible that the equipment has been tampered with and likely to have been stolen.

Both police and insurance companies recommend permanent security marking and in certain cases it can be specified as a condition of insurance cover.

Ideal for use in offices, schools, universities and NHS Authorities. In fact anywhere that computer or office equipment is used.
